CITY COUNCIL APPROVES ON 1930 BUDGET ESTIMATE

United States May Be Asked To Mediate Far East Dispute

CHINA REPLIES TO ULTIMATUM; TROOPS MOVING

Soviet Russia Lacking Power of Chinese Forces
Experts Ponder Over Outcome
Siberia Forms Problem In Military Moves Of Nation

Shanghai, July 17.—The United States may be asked to mediate the dispute between China and Soviet Russia growing out of the seizure of the Chinese Eastern Railway by China.

China's reply to the Soviet ultimatum is conciliatory in tone.

While it is generally believed that an armed clash will be averted, Nanking, the seat of the Nationalist government, is nervous and there is a feeling of mixed anxiety and tension in Shanghai.

Movement of troops is regarded merely as a precautionary measure, and officials of the Chinese government are certain that the affair will be thrashed out satisfactorily without recourse to arms.

At the moment, the Chinese ultimatum to Moscow would journey "eastward" to the Soviet capital as a plenipotentiary delegate to discuss the questions with the Russian foreign office.

Zao-Yang is now in Nanking. It is not known how soon he will proceed to Moscow for the conference.

While emphasizing the desire for amicable settlement, the Chinese now responded to the Soviet demand for cessation of "persecution" of Russian workers in China. The new demand was an unconditional demand for release of Chinese imprisoned in Russia in reprisal for the raid on the Soviet consulate at Harbin in May.

In addition, the communication demanded all Chinese Nationals in Russia be given adequate protection by the Soviet authorities against aggression and repression.

The communication upheld the seizure of the Chinese Eastern Railway and the closing of the Russian consulate at Harbin on the grounds that Soviet agents were spreading communist propaganda throughout Chinese territory.

Following the dispatch of the Nationalist government's answer to the Chinese ultimatum reports were received from Harbin that the Russian Soviets were concentrating military upon the Manchurian frontier.

Favor American Plan
Sentiment in favor of American mediation was said to be growing. (Continued on page 4)

PENSION BOARD ANNOUNCED BY COUNCIL BODY

George Slocum Appointed President of Newly Organized Group

FIRE CHIEF MALLOY NAMED SECRETARY

Five Salem Residents In Charge of Awards Under New Law

Appointment of the board of trustees, in charge of pension awards to the Salem fire departments, was announced at the meeting of city council last night.

Councilman George Slocum was selected president of the board, and Fire Chief Vincent L. Malloy was named secretary. Ernest Schmid, former city service director, Harry M. Vincent, of the Salem China company, and Councilman Frank L. Rollins were other members of the board.

Appointments will become effective the second Monday in September, under the new measure, passed by the Ohio legislature at its last session, and will draw up full rules and regulations governing awards of pensions immediately upon that date.

Provide For Funds

Action was taken by council to place a one-tenth mill levy on the 1930 tax duplicate to provide funds for next year's pension funds, and the budget for the coming year will bring approximately $1,900 annually into the city's pension funds. The firemen's fund now has a surplus of approximately $1,800.

Two ordinances, one authorizing the creation of the firemen's fund and the other the fund for policemen, were passed by council by unanimous vote, under suspension of rules. It is planned by the body to levy the tax only when financial necessity demands. The entire matter is in the hands of the budget committee, which holds office for one year.

Under the new Ohio law, the salons are permitted to issue the levy up to three-tenths mill, but the decision was made to limit it to the amount specified in the budget's amendment.

The pension board in charge of police relief funds has not been appointed.

POSTMASTER AT STATE MEETING

F. J. Eckstein In Columbus Attending Convention Of Officials

Frank J. Eckstein of Salem is in Columbus today attending a meeting of Postmasters from three states, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

The most important issue to be discussed at the convention is the method of appointing postmasters. The present system is unfavorable to many, as it is usually based on politics. The postmasters believe that appointment according to civil service will be more desirable for the postmasters and the government as well.

This subject will be discussed at a meeting today.

Walter F. Brown, Toledo, postmaster general of the United States, is expected later in the day. He will speak at a banquet this evening.

Six hundred postmasters in all are expected.

Colonel Myron Cox, Fremont, at Tuesday's night meeting, was named chairman of the nominating committee. Dr. W. G. Corn Newark, was chosen chairman of the resolutions committee.

NEWSPAPER MEN SENT TO PRISON ON COURT ORDER

Editor, Editorial Writer Of Cleveland Paper Found Guilty

Cleveland, July 17.—Common Pleas Judge Fred P. Walther, today adjudged Louis B. Seltzer, editor, and Carlton K. Matson, chief editorial writer of a Cleveland afternoon newspaper, guilty of contempt of court and sentenced them to 30 days imprisonment and fined each $500 and costs.

The contempt case arose out of an editorial published in the afternoon newspaper edited by Seltzer. The editorial criticized Judge Walther for issuing an injunction which restrained Sheriff Ed Hanratty from interfering at the Thistlewood race track near here. Hanratty sought to curb the contribution system of backing horses there, and later despite the issuance of the injunction, the sheriff made three arrests. Later the charges against the three were thrown out by a justice of the peace who claimed Ohio statutes did not forbid the contribution system.

Immediately following their sentence Seltzer and Matson issued the following statement:

"Sometimes situations arise in fighting for a principle when hazards must be taken.

"This is a plain case of freedom of the press to criticize a court order it regards as lawless. The order which is the crux of this case was an order which purported to restrain an officer of the law from doing his sworn duty.

"We criticized that order. We knew when we did it that there was a hazard. The court's citation followed.

"Thirty days in jail and a $500 fine is a small price to pay, if such price must be paid, in the contest involving a principle."

SOLONS DISCUSS PROBLEM FACING DISPOSAL PLANT

Construction of Sewer In Lower Sections of City Declared Necessary

COST OF OPERATION EXCEEDS ESTIMATE

Plant Now Treats Almost Double Last Year's Peak Load

Salem's sewage disposal plant is handling an increase of approximately 25 per cent more sewage this year than one year ago. City Engineer F. S. Barkhoff reported to city council at its meeting, Tuesday night, in requesting the solons to take immediate action in the installation of a storm sewer in the lower sections of the city.

The increase, the engineer explained, was due to a great extent to heavy collections of the storm water in rainy periods, which enter the sanitary sewers, and are transferred to the disposal plant, for treatment. The additional water imposes a heavy load on the plant, necessitating great expenditures in costs of treatment.

Councilman Frank L. Rollins, chairman of the sewer and sewers committee, gave a report on the matter also, stating that the present load of the plant is about one and one-half million gallons daily, while the normal load should be about 600,000 gallons.

Explains Present View

VICTOR BERGER STRUCK BY CAR

Former Congressman Is Critically Hurt In Home Town

Milwaukee, Wis., July 17.—Run down by a street car, Victor L. Berger, former congressman from Wisconsin and nationally prominent socialist, today was in a critical condition.

Taken to the emergency hospital, he was found to have suffered a possible skull fracture, internal injuries and scalp wounds.

The accident occurred while he was attempting to cross a street two blocks from his home here. On account of his age—69—it was feared he may not recover.

Berger was the first socialist to sit in congress. He was elected in 1910 and since then has served five terms. He was chosen in three elections before congress seated him in 1921, the delay having been gained by opponents who charged he opposed the United States' part in the war.

Sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment in Leavenworth on charges of obstructing the war, Berger served none of the term, the federal court of appeals holding that the ruling of Judge K. M. Landis was prejudicial. The case against him was based principally on editorials in the Milwaukee Leader, of which he is editor and publisher. He was one of the organizers of the socialist party in America.

TAX LEVY FOR PENSION FUND INCORPORATED

Solons Unanimous With Approval Vote; Goes To Lisbon

ADDED FIREMAN, POLICEMAN LISTED

Various departments have Estimated Costs Of Operation

The city of Salem is to present a budget estimate of $165,784.97 to the county budget commission for its approval.

The budget for next year was sent to Lisbon today, by City Auditor Helen R. Woerther, following city council's action in approving the issue, by unanimous vote, in its meeting, last night. Only one amendment, the addition of a one-tenth mill tax levy, was made to the entire budget by the solons.

The 1 mill levy will provide for the newly organized firemen's and policemen's pension funds, created by two ordinances passed in last night's business sessions. All other items on the budget, listing various approximate needs for next year, were given definite approval.

Of the total which the city asks from the county, $66,367.97 will be needed for payment of bonded indebtedness and interest on notes, Miss Woerther, who arranged the budget, explained today. The remaining amount, $99,417 will take care of general expenses for the year, according to the estimates, based on this year's expenditures.

The funds do not provide for projects in the city, such as street improvements, but will be used entirely for the needs of various departments, maintained through general taxation. The entire budget has been sent to the county auditor, who in turn presents it to the county budget commission for investigation.

The safety department submitted a request to the county commission for an increase of about $8,000, to provide for the addition of one fireman and one policeman, and payment of their salaries. The estimate filed with the county board last year was $34,325, while this year's request is $42,167.

The budget is composed of the city's three principal general funds, the health, safety and service, in addition to a small general fund. C. A. Cavanaugh, service director, filed the service group's estimate, while Safety Director Rex W. Rugsy estimated the needs of his department. The health fund request was fixed by Health Commissioner T. T. Church.

Service Department Fund
The service department fund provides payment of street cleaning, street lighting, disposal plant operation, and other current expenses. The general fund, fixed at $16,640 will pay salaries of all city officials. Council went into no detail whatever in discussing the budget.

Clark F. L. Griffin read the issue, and the group approved it without comment.

RECORD-BREAKING

If we may judge by two stories run side by side in the New York Times the country enjoyed an unusual degree of prosperity the first six months of the present year.

The first quoted the American Bankers' Association Journal, which declared, following a survey made by it, that the composite balance sheet of American business at the close of the half year reveals a strength and liquidity surpassing all past achievements.

"All three of the mainstays of the present era of prosperity continue to give a good account of themselves," the Journal says, and then it recites that the steel industry operated at the rate of $7,000,000 tons annually; that the automobile industry is aiming at an output of 6,000,000 cars and that the building industry, despite the scarcity in many great sections of the country of mortgage money, is only twelve per cent behind the record of last year for the same period. It brings out, also, that "a score of other industries of scarcely less importance have established new high production records in the same period," and that there is a surprisingly high rate of activity in the production of manufacturers.

The other story to which reference is made was the announcement sent out from Washington by the American Railway association to the effect that the movement of freight in the first half of the year was greater than for any corresponding period on record.

The loading of revenue freight for the first twenty-six weeks of the year, the Railway association reports, was 25,596,938 cars, which exceeded by 75,895 cars the best previous record for that period, that of 1927, and was 253,706 cars better than the revenue freight loadings of the first six months of 1926.

But there are other indications of unusual prosperity which we have nearer home than either New York or Washington. They may be had on every hand, here in Salem as elsewhere. Let any reader be honest with himself and recall, if he can, any time heretofore when people lived so well in such comfortable, well-furnished homes, when they dressed so well, enjoyed so many comforts and advantages, drove so good cars and yet had so much money in their pockets.

DANGEROUS PLANE SAFE

Naval aviation officials have reached the conclusion that a plane which has a reputation for being safe is far more dangerous than one which is recognized as being unsafe.

They are led to this conclusion by a checking up of accidents, ship by ship, of the navy's aerial operations which shows that the most dangerous plane in the navy is the safest.

"The record of this 'dangerous plane' says the report, 'is interesting because the consensus of men in aviation is that the recent bunching of bad plane accidents can only be explained as due to a wave of overconfidence by fliers, which shades quickly into recklessness."

"But there is no overconfidence where the old HS2L is concerned. That bus, as the men who have flown it say, 'is a bad baby.' It must be watched all the time and recklessness in handling it never develops. Hence the safe record."

The HS2L plane is of the pusher flying boat type, which as long as six years ago was held too dangerous for any attempts at "show stuff." Pilots were then forbidden to attempt any stunts in them and they were ordered used only for patrol and cruising work.

Recently a technical expert, writing in "Aviation," described planes of the type as being "unstable longitudinally and apt to slip off on a wing without warning. They go into a spin easily and are next to impossible to get out, and they are decidedly underpowered."

Yet what has the operation of this type of plane shown? They have a record of having flown 30,000 hours and covered over 2,000,000 miles without a fatal accident.

Few types of planes, the experts say, can boast such a safety performance record, and they hold that it is logical to claim that pilot pilots can be taught to be more cautious in any type of plane, what is needed is not safer planes, but planes more difficult in handling.

What Others Say

THE KING COMES HOME

There are, perhaps, very many Americans wholly incapable of understanding the arduous and enthusiasm of the welcome King George received from his people upon his return to official estate in his capital of London. But though the British sovereign has extremely limited powers in any concrete expression, he in fact is the mightiest ruler of empire on the face of the earth. It is the tradition of the sovereign which really holds together the wide dependencies of the realm; it is as strong as Canada and New Zealand as it is in the British Isles. The king represents the genius, aspirations and achievements of the empire. In his person reposes the law; and the law is as potent in South Africa as it is in Australia or in the islands of the sea which are shadowed by the British flag.

This feeling of reverence and loyalty for the king is rooted in the thought and national progress of a thousand years. It resents criticism, though the subjects of the British monarch are probably the most truly democratic on the face of the earth.

The king does not die. Hence George V is as sacrosanct a monarch today as was the Lion Heart in his day, perhaps more so.

And so, when King George the other day came riding home after his long, weary, dangerous months of illness and suffering, his people gave him such a welcome as seldom has been accorded to major heroes of the realm. He was coming home from near the gates of death, coming renewed in health and vigor. The people cheered; they wept; they gave vast evidence of the sincerity of their admiration for his person and their gratitude for his return.

It is this feeling on the part of the English people which welds the empire in surpassing solidity. In this respect the shadow so to speak, is of vaster importance than the substance of authority. The feeling is deep-rooted. It will be long in departing from English hearts, if ever. It is something akin to the attitude of the religious devotee to personified ideals of his faith. It makes for strength. In England it means for the preservation of human liberty, the stability of Christian civilization.

KEEP INFANT'S FOOD AT LOW TEMPERATURE

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

Summer is a trying time for little babies. No matter how watchful the mother is all the rest of the year, she must take special pains in hot weather. No detail is too small to be overlooked.

Even a husky grown-up suffers the effects of intense heat. If this is true, think of how trying the hot days and nights are for the frail infant.

Another factor is the danger of milk spoilage. That fine product of the farm reaches your door in perfect condition. It is delivered even in the large cities at a very low temperature. It must be kept so.

Exposed to room temperature, even for a very few hours, it is sure to be teeming with unfriendly germs. There can be no haphazard care of this precious food. The supply must be kept cold until feeding time arrives.

One of the first effects of giving contaminated milk is an upset digestion. The stomach rebels. Next, diarrhea is noted. This can be very weakening.

We look upon diarrhea as an effort on the part of the system to rid itself of the disturbing substances in the blood. These serve to irritate the intestine.

It makes no difference whether it is the acidity set up by the bad milk, or because the milk curdles and produces irritating curds. What ever is the exact cause makes little difference. The infant has diarrhea and it must be checked.

The symptom may be the effect of a wrong mixture for the feedings. Too much cream—"top milk"—or too much sugar. These are causes for diarrhea.

Children differ a lot in their tendencies to intestinal troubles. Even in the same family there is a lot of difference. One of the twins may have this tendency and the other may appear to be safe from such ailments.

If there is such a weakness great care must be taken to guard the child from exposure to great heat. The coolest place in the house must be given over to the baby.

Sudden changes in temperature are disturbing. Fresh air is essential no matter what the weather is. But on cool or cold days guard the child against the other extreme of weather.

Should a sudden attack of diarrhea come on, stop the feedings. Give only boiled and cooled water. Plenty of this is recommended. Do not return to food until your doctor advises you to do so.

Sometimes very weak tea or rice water will be useful. I mention these for the benefit of some mother who is far distant from a doctor. In all cases where he is within reach, the family physician should be consulted.

Ring out the scum!
Ring in the soft water!

Good news! Water need no longer be hard, even in this hard-water country. Scum need no longer form in the bathtub! Dirty rings need no longer be scrubbed from tubs, dishpans or washbasins!

Use Melo to soften hard water! It prevents the forming of the dirty ring. It makes water delightfully soft. It saves from 1/4 to 1/2 the amount of soap ordinarily used. It makes soap much more effective. With or without soap, water softened with Melo is a wonderful cleaner. Get it at your grocer's.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, July 18

The reign of the stars on this day must be interpreted with meanings of morbidity, melancholy, frustration. Affairs may be found to be generally depressed and depressing. There may be tenacious obstacles to overcome, with postponements and disappointments. It is advised that under the circumstances all important constructive effort be put off for further action, and that peace and quiet overthrow melancholy.

These whose birthday it is, may have a year calling for all their fortitude, patience and perseverance. There may be many obstacles to confront, but these should be met resolutely and hopefully, with reconciliation to the enforced delays, as they are but temporary, and much may be attained by diligence and plodding persistence.

A child born on this day may be prone to look on the serious aspect of life, and to be slow, methodical, persevering and patient, as well as introspective.

Makes him lonely, makes him only so that God's high messages shall reach him so that she may surely teach him what the hierarchy planned.—Angela Morgan.

keeping up with the Joneses

A larger income may make it possible for the Joneses to have a much finer home than the Browns—but the Browns can own just as fine a car. For it does not require a big income to own a DeSoto Six. And with a DeSoto Six the Browns have the pride and satisfaction of driving a Chrysler-built automobile—with the ability to out-perform most other cars on the road.

DeSoto Six is obviously smart and stylish; up-to-the-minute in mode. And it has not taken the motoring public long to find that DeSoto Six is also exceptionally comfortable and easy riding, powerful, speedy and safe. Record-breaking sales figures for a first-year car are proof enough of its established and growing popularity.

Combine these qualities with low price, low maintenance cost and assured long life. The reason is plain why those who insist on smartness and performance, but must consider economy, are finding DeSoto Six the most satisfactory car.

CAPITOL PHONE GIRLS ARE REAL GOOD DIPLOMATS

Play Important Part In Diplomatic Life Of Washington

Washington, July 17.—Should it be a show-down the telephone girls at the United States Capitol would vote that senators and congressmen over the telephone are the most important members of the House of Representatives; that secretaries of congressmen are polite and the "secretaries to the secretaries" are the hand-picked customers to handle. A show-down to a Capitol "hello" would mean they could vote their opinion without fear of losing their position and that their act would not be published. These girls handle the telephonic business of the nation's capital are real diplomats even though some may have the appearance of flappers. All of the regulars who plug into "National 20" with a cheery "Capitol" considerable brain matter between their metal head pieces. They don't mind telling Senator (William E. Borah) the blustering, kind fellow from Idaho who directs the powerful Foreign Relations committee; the man who knows conditions in Europe as he does those in the District of Columbia and who suggests to the President to "call an extra session of Congress" and he does, "to talk louder please" if they don't hear him. These girls at the Capitol switchboard don't get frightened when a "big duck" gives them a "when" Every Senator and Representative has one or more telephones and thousands of outgoing and as incoming calls that go through the board every day show the phones are far from being desk decorations.

Hoover No Novelty Handling a call for Herbert Hoover is no novelty. All of these operators have "done business" with Mr. Hoover when he was Secretary of Commerce. He had occasion to telephone members of Congress considerably then. But taking the call from a president, plugging the cord carrying his actual voice, is something different. Mr. Hoover is the first president to allow a telephone on his desk. And he uses it and the Capitol girls admit they get a wee bit excited when they know the White House is on the other end of the line.

They don't want any "disconnections" when the President is phoning and if they ever pray for a senator or representative to be at the desk when a call comes in for him they do when President Hoover is on the line. Being diplomats the operators decided to name the members of Congress "who are more polite over the phone than others." They also were non-committal on the under-secretaries or office help of the laws who they say "get peeved" times and laughs when they are getting poor service and they are getting the best all the time.

Sixteen girls operate the big board when Congress is in session. When the special session recessed for a vacation four girls lost their jobs and Congress reconvenes.

Capital Line Busy With the hustle-and-bustle of the busy days of the special session, the daily gatherings of the House members into the night over the Capitol resolution designed to cut off the South for denying the right to vote to its negro citizens, one of the operators declared: "The Capitol is never busy. Who is calling might be busy on the office telephone but no one ever receives a 'busy' from the Capitol." Daily experience with the Capitol switchboard proved this to be correct but some serious-minded senators and representatives may take offense to the declaration "The Capitol is never busy."

President's Crime Commission Suggests States Cooperate In Liquor Enforcement

Washington, July 17.—Prohibition officials today were in principle agreed with Chairman George W. Wickensham, of the president's crime commission, who informed the governors' conference at Groton, Conn., that the states should bear a sizeable share of the burden of enforcing the dry laws.

Clarification of the duties of the state and federal government would be helpful in the view of treasury officials. The government has devoted its efforts to fighting smuggling with a major operation now in progress along the Canadian border. It has aimed to break interstate conspiracies in transportation and to attack wholesale liquor manufacturing operations.

In addition the federal government supervises manufacture, storage and distribution of medicinal liquor and industrial alcohol, a function that should remain where it is in the opinion of officials. The treasury's policy was outlined by Doran as follows:

"The federal government has certain broad and appropriate functions to perform, and I assert it is performing them reasonably well. In the first place, it is the duty of the federal government to prevent smuggling of liquor. The coast guard has been augmented, rum row has been broken, treaty conventions have been entered into and the total smuggling of illicit liquor reduced to one-fourth the quantity of three years ago."

"Internal federal enforcement should be primarily investigative rather than that of policing. It should aim to break up the large scale interstate and inter-district conspiracies and center its efforts on the commercial operations dealing with manufacture, transportation and distribution of commercial quantities of liquor. It should investigate collusive conditions where local officials are in conspiracy with these rings. That it is doing."

is to be divided and for the use of Miss Alice Glenn, court reporter. The second floor will be used in part for the law library and a new jury room. The present law library room will be used by the sheriff, and the present office of the sheriff will be added to the two rooms now used by the clerk of courts. The new court room will be 35.3 by 28.11 feet and the new jury room will be 18.8 by 16 feet. There is also to be a storage room on this new second floor for court records and files and this will measure 8.11 by 31 feet.

There will be no change in the location of the present jury room, and this will be for the use of juries from No. 1 court. The new jury room will be for the juries in No. 2 court. Miss Glenn and her assistant, Miss Minnie Higgins will also continue to occupy the small stenographer's room located on the second floor of the court house between the office of the sheriff and the law library.

Consideration is also being given the idea of re-locating the jury box and witness stand in No. 1 court room, by placing them on the north side of the court room. This change, however, has not been fully determined. Remodeling of No. 2 court room will begin next Monday.

flow is almost double last year's load. The plant is allotted $2,400 yearly for cost of furnishing power, and due to the great increase, this has already been used up. At times, he stated, the load has reached the three million gallon mark, this year.

The cost of furnishing power for the plant, it is understood, under normal conditions, will be well within the $2,400 appropriation, but with the heavy increase in water sewage, which composes most of the plant's heavy load, this amount is used up rapidly. With the construction of the storm water sewer, this load will be brought back to normal, and the cost decreased.

The most expensive item in the increased cost of operation is in the production of power to conduct air into the plant's treatment processes, about 2,000,000 cubic feet now being used to treat the sewage.

President of Council P. J. Dean charged the body with the importance of the issue, and instructed the sewers committee to investigate the matter with Berekhoff, and prepare legislation in time for action at the next meeting.

Three Bachelors—Judge, Banker, Doctor—Involved in Comedy Coming to Chautauqua

SCENE FROM "THREE WISE FOOLS"

This comedy of mirth, master minds and mystery, is slated for Chautauqua's second night. The story is built around three bachelors—a judge, a banker and a doctor—who have lived together so long that they have fallen into a distinct rut. Their existence has become such a matter of routine that they are even older than their ages. All of them, in their youth, have been in love with the same girl. After many years they receive a message, written just before her death, asking them to take care of her child. They make plans for the arrival of a baby boy. Then to their utter astonishment, in walks an attractive young girl of eighteen or twenty years.

"Three Wise Fools" is a clean, wholesome story, involving typical American characters. It is full of heart throbs and thrills and is built on a foundation of laughter. The author, Austin Strong, has succeeded in speeding the mantle of romance over the clever plot of his comedy, and has blended this romantic plot in a masterly fashion that lifts his play head and shoulders above the average.

RECORD YEAR IS SEEN FOR AUTOS

Production Records to Be Exceeded In 1929, Leaders of Industry State At Gathering

Cleveland, July 17.—Optimistic that a new high yearly automobile production record will be set for 1929, leaders of the motor industry convened here today for a short session of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce Directorate.

The directorate of the association includes: Alvan Macauley, president of the Packard Motor Car Co.; Alfred Saxe, vice president of the General Motors corporation; A. R. Eskine, president of the Studebaker corporation; John Willys, C. W. Nash and Walter P. Chrysler.

Crediting export trade, the increased demand for light motor trucks and the tremendous growth of low priced car production, Alfred Reeves, general manager of the association, said today he expected the automobile production record for 1929 to reach 5,200,000 units.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, July 1.—One is wondering if the wandering waistline has finally come home to roost? After being seen about the hips, mid-hip-and-knee as well as under the arm pits, there seems to be a general leaning toward the old normal place, and spot where it once was, especially among the younger women who can still wear it there.

A belt or some definite indication has put it in its place. Narrow belts and wide ones, leash belts, woven cord and horsehair ones. There are belts of every description and every width.

One dressmaker is showing the natural waistline on a charming printed chiffon frock worn by a smart American woman in Paris. Another leader favors this line, as well, but some are still using the low waistline on a charming coarse fishnet tulle evening frock.

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt Jr., wears a frock of chiffon and tulle with the waistline about the slender hips and very long in the back. One style accentuates the waistline of a dainty printed chiffon frock with two points of printed tulle on either side of the bodice. It goes around and falls in a cascade of tulle drapery descending even lower than the skirt.

A clever idea is a wide sash effect about the natural waist, of a youthful evening gown in chiffon making an elegant bow on the side. Another designer puts two belts on a white satin blouse to go with a black suit two in black suede, one above the other. For sports wear black patent leather belts are very wide.

STATISTICS SHOW AIR TRAVEL TO BE VERY SAFE

Bad Disasters On Airways Few and Far Between; British Crash

New York, July 17.—It takes an accident to best illustrate the safety of air travel.

This is an old saying among flyers and one that is proven on innumerable occasions.

The recent fall of a British airplane into the English channel, was an exceedingly regrettable mishap, but it was not entirely without value to aviation.

The accident brought into sharp relief the remarkable record made by the company operating the plane. In ten years of existence it has flown nearly a million passengers across the channel and has had remarkably few catastrophes such as the recent one.

Other accidents—particularly in this country—have had the same result. It is an ill wind that blows no good—however small.

The newest candidate for transatlantic flying honors is a genuine 18 carat nobleman—Lieut. von Clauson Kaas.

Lieut. von Clauson Kaas is attached to the Royal Danish Flying Corps Reserve and is a member of one of the oldest noble families in Denmark.

At the present time he is in New York testing various safety devices preparatory to taking off from the United States in a light plane for a solo hop to Copenhagen.

New York State was pictured as a leader in aeronautical development by F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war for aeronautics, when he spoke recently at Binghamton. "This place of honor," Secretary Davison said, "is earned by virtue of the well-planned support extended to aviation in New York not alone by the state itself, through enactment of well-considered air laws or through the creation of the New York State Aviation commission, but also because of the constructive and sympathetic interest in aviation taken by the mayors of the state."

Secretary Davison quoted statistics to show that 33,000 people more than the entire population of some cities, were flown more than 10,500,000 miles in New York state last year.

A new Whirlwind-Travel-Air bi-plane has been added by Parks Air College of St. Louis to its fleet of training planes. The ship was taken to the Parks Airport recently by Claude Sterling from the Travel-Air factory at Wichita. Especially built for the night flying instruction now expected of all accredited schools by the Department of Commerce the new ship is equipped with landing light, parachute flares and navigation light.

Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., has increased its staff of pilots to 34.

Definite arrangement of details in three of the major air speed classics and the receipt of contracts from more than 130 manufacturers and other agencies of the aircraft industry marked recent developments preparatory to the 1929 National Air Races and Aeronautical Exposition to be held in Cleveland from August 24 to September 2.

The transcontinental air derby for women—one of the major innovations scheduled for the 1929 meet—has been set to start at Santa Monica, Cal., on August 19. The other derbies definitely settled are the Miami-Biami Beach-Cleveland derby and the Philadelphia-Cleveland and speed classic. Liberal cash prizes and numerous trophies have been assured these events.

The Fairchild Airplane Manufacturing Corporation and the Kreider-Reisner Aircraft Company, Inc., of Hagerstown, Md., subsidiaries of the Fairchild Aviation Corporation, will turn out 800 planes this year, a recent announcement reveals.

The Holmes Airport, which is the closest of any New York flying field to Times Square, boasts of a new daredevil. The said daredevil is Mary L. Dua, a 19-year-old Belgian girl who first saw airplanes looping and diving in mortal combat about Ghent in Flanders. The girl, who has been in the country only a few months is a parachute jumper. She has almost become a fixture at Holmes Airport.

Note Hints Suicide

Regardless of the fact that Lucy O. Chute of West Gosham, Me., left a note in which she said she was tired of the world, the police believe she has eloped with a soldier from Fort McKinley. They are maintaining a search, however, to verify her letter.

DAYTON POLICE CAPTURE CROOKS

Men Wanted In Torture Case Taken; Find Burglar Tools

Dayton, July 17.—Ohio justice moved at a very swift pace today in disposing of the cases of Thomas McAuley Omaha, admitted burglar and professed newspaper reporter, and George Coleman, alleged Chicago gunmen-clerk, who were arrested here Monday night on charges of possessing burglar tools.

A special session of the Montgomery county grand jury will consider the cases today.

The men, described by police as "tough nobs" are being held under double guard. Besides being locked in a cell policemen, armed with sawed-off shot guns, are patrolling the outside of the cell.

They were taken into custody Monday night when they were seen talking to two local run-runners. A subsequent search revealed that both men carried revolvers and the finest set of burglar tools ever confiscated by local police was found in the men's high-priced automobile.

The grand jury it is said, will consider charges of possession of burglar tools and possibly charges of carrying concealed weapons.

Cincinnati police came here today, demanding the return of the men to that city where they are wanted for alleged participation in the famous Nathan Shapiro kidnapping case.

July 17.—Chuck Klein, jors, will be shooting at a new record when the Philadelphia Phillies play the Pittsburgh Pirates today.

The slugging outfielder of the Phillies will set a new mark of 10 homers in four consecutive games. If he gets one today he will have the present record of six in four consecutive games when he hit four round-trippers twice yesterday's game. He also tied the record of three home runs in three consecutive times at his third homer was made last time at bat and yesterday's first two appearances at the plate.
The Boston Red Sox hit home in as many consecutive at bats in 1894. Of the modern era, Babe Ruth, George Batterman, Walker and Elmer Smith hit for the circuit in three consecutive games at bat, although on balls broke up the run in some instances. And Caldwell of the Yankees, because of the Jack Rabbit hit a homer on three consecutive appearances as a pinch hitter.

Damascus Hits Hard To Earn 9-1 Decision Over Furnaces

Business Men Slam Out 12 Safeties As Hits Mean Runs; Maccabees Win Extra-Inning Contest
From Kiwanians By 5 to 4 Score

Damascus Business Men, alias the Quakers, defeated the Electric Furnace, for another city softball league victory, in a battle, featured by the heavy hitting of the first half lead-ers, at Centennial park, Tuesday. The score was 9 to 1.

The Business Men scored six runs in the first inning, on consecutive hits by J. Price, Clemson, Pennell, and Grice, aided by bingles clouted by Silver and F. Oesch. Harry Cal-ladine held the Furnace to four hits, the lone marker coming in the first frame.

The game was well played, only one error being made.

Kiwanians Lose
In the first game, the Kiwanians club lost its second straight decision of the second half to the Maccabees, by a 5-4 score, in nine innings. It was easily the most sensational game of the evening.

The Kiwanians started off with a run in the first, but the lodgements, aided by errors, came back with three in the third. The score was knotted at the end of the regulation seven frames, but two hits and an error broke up the contest in the ninth. Both teams fielded perfectly in all but one inning.

McCarthy and Youtz both hurled good ball, hits coming at opportune times, when they meant runs.

Old-Timers Declare Unknown Heavy Has Chance For Title

Vicorie Campolo, Argentine Giant, Will Oppose Arthur De Kuh, At Ebbets Field Tonight;
Fight Said To Have Titular Aspect

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
New York, July 17.—According to Jack Johnson, Abe Attel and Johnny Dundee, old-timers who ought to know all about it and probably don't, the next heavyweight champion of the world will be exposed to public view tonight.

He is Victorio Campolo, the gay caballero who goes forth with naked hands and slays his own beef. Vic-torio's noble skull rears itself 6 feet 6 inches into the atmosphere; he weighs around 220 pounds and he is supposed to be faster than an old time scubrette.

Unless he is very fast, this data simply means that Victorio's 220 pounds will fall from a height of 6 feet 6 inches. There hasn't been an available specimen like that since Willard withdrew himself from circulation.

The caballero will meet Arthur DeKuh, another big one, over a distance scheduled for 10 rounds at Ebbets field. It won't go 10 minutes if this pair decides to become at all resolute about it. DeKuh has a great punch and a chin that reaches out and clamors for attention. What Victorio has, I don't know, but it is supposed to be plenty.

Victorio Picked To Win
They are touting him to halt abate and otherwise discontinue De Kuh in five rounds and, if he does that, Sharkey and Schmeling won't be able to hold their championship fight without him. DeKuh is only one of the chumps, of course, but it takes better than a chump to knock him nonplussed. Sharkey couldn't do it in 10 rounds just before the gripping encounter with Stribling. So Victorio hasn't chosen a sap for himself tonight.

Of course, if he is as good as they say he is, then this Argentine is better than Firpo and it doesn't make any difference whom he chooses.
Neither does it matter much how big he is. The notion came into vogue after Willard's debacle that the man who weighed more than 210 pounds, and exceeded two inches over six feet was too big to fight.

Godfrey changed all that. I don't know how much fighting he does but one thing I'll guarantee. He isn't too big to win.

Campolo Fast
Give these big ones speed, as Campolo is said to have, and stake them to a punch in both hands, another of his alleged assets, and there isn't the slightest reason for them to go wrong. Johnson didn't and he looked bigger than a baboon in there.

Nobody, as a matter of fact, really knows much about the hombre. He was quite a man as an amateur heavyweight and recently he knocked off Roberto Roberti. Still, if you don't do that, the rules say that the ball isn't in play and you have to go back and start all over again, with an added penalty of stroke and distance.

O.G. accepts Challenge at stronghold of its rivals

Show-down test . . . at Roosevelt Field, New York, reveals the true cigarette preference of Aviators.

The question is often asked: "Does OLD GOLD pick out its strongholds, the places where it out-sells its three rivals, when it makes its 'Concealed Name Tests'?" The answer is "No!" OLD GOLD doesn't seek "set-ups" but "show-downs."

As a two-year-old youngster, "O. G." couldn't be expected to match "sales totals" with the three veteran brands, each from 12 to 16 years old. Give a young fellow time! But when it comes to comparing quality . . . that's "O. Gs." meat.

For example, look what happened at Roosevelt Field, New York's greatest airport. Here, "O. Gs." rank third in sales. But when 68 Roosevelt aviators and their mechanics took the "Concealed Name Test," OLD GOLD won, hands down, as the most appealing cigarette! The score, as audited by certified public accountants, was: OLD GOLD 23 first choices . . . Brand "X", 13 . . . Brand "Y", 17 . . . Brand "Z", 15.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, July 17.—She shall be known by her shoes, seems to be the summer motto of the smart French betters who are bringing out creations certainly fit to walk into Paradise.

There are shoes that shine like the July sun on a bit of brass and others as discreet as suede can make them. Square toes are the latest novelty from one dealer who is showing several models of pumps and sandals with the toes angular and bowed rather than straight. A striking pump comes with appliques of contrasting color weaving in spirals about the top. Another is a sandal cut right to the level of the sole but strapped about the ankle.

Bally uses white buckskin finished in tan kid for a popular summer sport model and pastel-blue satin for charming house-mules with a wealth of very soft roses and forget-me-nots slipping over the instep. Corn-yellow mules have golden heels and peppy flowers with wisps of wheat around the satin edge. Emerald ones with heels of silver.

 In spite of prophecies to the contrary, shoes are bright. A charming pair of bright green shoes were seen tripping across the Place Vendôme to the Rue the other day, just matching the charming green costume Milady wore. Red ones are abundant and blue ones are becoming as common as black.

MOVIES

In Playhouses Of Salem

"HEARTS IN DIXIE"

"Hearts in Dixie" which now is showing locally at the Royal theatre, comes here with the most glowing praise from every theatre in which it has been shown.

This Fox Movietone all-talking production is unique from many standpoints. It tells a story of the Southland, just after the Civil War; it has pathos, yet is fraught with humor, and besides its actors it has more than two hundred singers, dancers and musical comedy stars recruited from among the best in the field.

Among the entertainers is the Billie Holiday chorus of 60 mixed voices which render two score or so spirituals and folk songs that come from the screen in marvelous fashion. The chorus has a wide radio reputation.

Directed by Paul Sloane, "Hearts in Dixie" is amusement of the highest order.

"GIRL IN THE GLASS CAGE"
 Then, too, Loretta Young and Carroll Nye are seen in a love story of a very appealing nature in "The Girl in the Glass Cage" which is at the State. Ralph Dawson did a very credible job of directing the first National-Vitaphone all-talking picture.

The rest of the cast are all fine performers, but they are also all villains. That's where the "heavy" drama comes in, and no pun intended. George Stone, Matthew Betz, Lucien Littlefield, Ralph Lewis, Julia Swayne Gordon and Charles Sellon, with some other good players of nearly equal renown, appear in a wide variety of characterizations, all from the heroine's viewpoint, sinister.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

The husband who was a Summer bachelor was boasting.

"I've been eating home for three nights running since my wife went away, and I haven't done a bit of cooking. Why do you women make such a fuss of cooking?"

No, he wasn't the miracle man he implied. When a man prepares a meal for himself out of good things he finds in the refrigerator he usually regards it as a personal triumph. The simple fact was that the far-seeing wife had generously stocked the icebox before the left—preparing amply for her husband's favorite habit of late icebox prowling.

But it's a good hint, and there's no reason why, with the excellent refrigeration available to most of us, there shouldn't be a great reduction in the number of dinners cooked. Why cook for every meal in hot weather? You have several choices. If the family eats salads with relish there's no problem at all. You can have a different salad every night for weeks—varying with the vegetables in the market, with combinations of fish, flaked crab, any other cooked flaked fish, fresh if possible, or canned if that's all that's available.

However, even if vegetables and salads are the less popular, which have to be shipped in with the favorite meat dish, there's no reason why one must cook every day. Plan ahead and cook for at least two meals and sometimes it's just as easy to cook enough food for two dinners and one lunch at one time. If you must have a roast, get one big enough to serve for a cold supper of sliced meat, or a jellied meat loaf, or salad. Chicken and veal can be diced for a second or third service, and mixed with diced cooked vegetables and be a complete one-piece meal requiring no extra cooking.

There's no economy in getting a small roast in warm weather if you're cooking for a family of meat-eaters, who like it for one meal a day. Be sure your refrigerator is always thoroughly chilled, and meat can be kept safely for several days. But it should not be served the same way more than once.

When cooking vegetables like beans, potatoes, or carrots, cook enough to make more than one meal. If they are plain boiled and dressed at the table with melted butter and seasoning, the leftovers can be served again in many ways without additional cooking. A combination salad of cold, cooked vegetables, plus some fresh raw greens—lettuce, watercress, shredded raw cabbage, sweet green peppers, tomatoes, cucumbers, walnuts, makes a fine salad. Add some devilled eggs, or several kinds of cheese, and you have a complete though vegetarian dinner—which is just about right on a hot Summer evening.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

How much gayer or pleasant conversation is affected by furniture is something for the new psychologists to figure. But certainly you can feel the effect definitely of certain pieces of furniture. Not merely does a chair or settee make one feel physically comfortable—or otherwise—but there is something about its quality, the way of its placing, its distance from other chairs, that can promote sociability or freeze conversation.

If you're lucky enough to possess one of the modernistic two-way pieces you may already have noted the effect. They come in all sorts of shapes. There is the two-way chair, either of wicker work or upholstered over wood. This is really a direct descendant of the old-fashioned "love-seat" no doubt named with a purpose. For these seats for two, apparently discreetly separated by their sides, were yet one, and as they were small in size didn't permit any great distance, even if they did make for separation. For a small room, not big enough to accommodate a couch, the new two-way seat for two is a delightful substitute.

For the more spacious room a charming modernistic novelty is the two-way couch. It must be placed in the middle of a room, of course, or even in the center if the room is large enough. It's a rather substantial affair, and may run to as much as six by eight or nine feet. The back of the couch becomes a wall, as it were, between the two seats, and there is space enough on either side for three or four persons.

At either end is built in (or fitted in) a semi-circular end, with irregular shelves to hold books, lamps, cigarettes, pottery, etc. You can have a party of six or eight persons, all sitting nearby, so as to make conversation intimately cordial—rather than compel breaking up into couples, not always preferred when half a dozen are invited.

A spring and grooved ring have been invented to be placed in electric light sockets to prevent lamps being jarred loose.

ALL MECHANISM

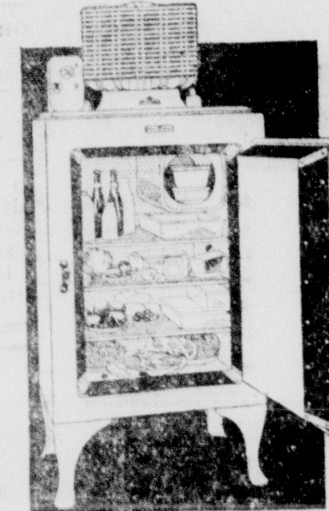

ON TOP ..where it belongs!

THERE are many reasons why all the mechanism of the General Electric Refrigerator is placed on top of the cabinet. Here are 3 vital reasons:

1. Refrigerating mechanisms develop heat in the process of cooling the interior of the refrigerator. This heat escapes and rises. Therefore, General Electric has placed the refrigerating mechanism on top so that the escaping heat travels away from the cabinet.

2. Placing all the mechanism on top of the cabinet achieves maximum food storage space within the cabinet.

3. With the mechanism on top, the inside of the cabinet is free from obstructions and easier to keep clean.

There are now more than 300,000 users and not one has ever spent a dollar for repairs. Visit our display rooms and see the new all-steel models.

DE PRIEST SETS NEW INSPIRATION TO NEGRO RACE

Watch Moves
Of Congressman With Interest

Washington, July 17.—Not since Booker T. Washington have the 11,000,000 negroes in the United States had anybody who approached the stature of a national or racial spokesman. Leaderless, without representation in Congress, and in many places denied suffrage, they have formed a floating, inarticulate ten per cent of the populace.

There have been many ambitious negroes who aspired to the racial leadership once held by Washington. But all of them somehow came to grief or fell short of the mark. Marcus Garvey had ambitions, with his "back to Africa" movement and his Universal Improvement Association. He finally wound up in prison. Perry Howard, the enterprising Mississippi politician who became an Assistant Attorney General, had visions of leadership. He collided with an indictment charging patronage graft and so it has gone.

The current white politicians of Washington are now watching Rep. Oscar DePriest of Chicago, with narrowed eyes. DePriest is the first negro to sit in Congress since the turn of the century. Moreover, he is able, energetic and possessed of a racial consciousness that makes him burn with zeal to accomplish something for the benefit of his people.

No Accident
DePriest is not an electoral accident such as occasionally is washed into the halls of Congress. He is serving his first term, and it is quite likely he will serve more terms, for his district on Chicago's south side is predominately black. There are a lot of his white colleagues who wish they had as good a hold on their districts as the Chicago negro. It looks, in fact, as though he were going to be here for a long, long time.

Inevitably, Rep. DePriest has sprung into national prominence among his people. He is being literally deluged with invitations to address negro meetings all over the country. And he is accepting as many of these invitations as his congressional duties permit. He is making speeches, and he is talking politics to his people in a way that no other negro in recent years has talked to them. And his position lends weight to his words.

DePriest is a Republican, but he is a negro first. Recently he has addressed audiences in New Jersey and in Tennessee. He is advising his people to organize in order to obtain their "political and civil rights." He meticulously refrains from the word "social." Recently in speaking at a negro political rally, he said, in substance:

Must Organize
"There are nearly 150 congressional districts in the United States in which negroes hold the balance of power between the two parties. If you don't organize yourselves and realize upon that situation, then you deserve to be down-trodden."

For his own part, the Chicago Congressman is intent upon being a negro first. He has announced he will continue to appoint negro candidates to West Point and Annapolis until there are black officers in both the Army and the Navy.

"Why not?" he says. "They'll make good officers."
The politicians are watching DePriest's activities with deep interest—and not a little trepidation. There are other Congressional districts in large cities where negroes predominate, and where, if they are not in the actual majority, they are sufficiently powerful to decide an election. Probably DePriest's estimate of 150 districts where negroes hold the balance of power is a bit liberal, but New York, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Boston, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Kansas City, Indianapolis, Cincinnati and other cities have large negro populations, and as the migration from the South increases these populations are steadily.

Success Inspiring
Inevitably DePriest's success in Chicago, and his exhortation to his people to organize will have the effect of inspiring more negroes to stand for election.

One politician here made a private prediction that within ten years there would be not one, but half a dozen and probably more negroes in Congress. He has a lot of them in his state, and keeps in fairly close touch with what is going on among them. He said that DePriest has become "the negro of the hour" to his people since March 4.

Perhaps it would be extravagant to say, at this early date, that Oscar DePriest is destined to become the spokesman for his race, but the politicians of Washington believe he is headed for a position of leadership such as no negro since Washington has had.

Road Work In Columbiana Is Rapidly Nearing Completion

Lisbon, July 17.—Within the next few days it is believed the last concrete will be poured on the new East Liverpool-East Palestine road in St. Clair township by the Laughlin Coal & Supply Co. of Canton. Less than one mile is to be poured on this section. Forms have been erected to tap the present brick road, and concrete is being poured at the rate of from 400 to 600 feet daily. Should favorable weather prevail, it may follow that the last concrete will be poured by next Tuesday. The road will be opened to traffic 21 days after the last concrete has been poured.

Lewis & Copeland of Lima, who were awarded the contract for the erection of the new four-span bridge over Beaver creek at Fredericktown on this road will begin preliminary work within a few weeks. This project was bid in at $47,789.80 or $7,081.20 under the estimate.

While the new bridge is being built, the present one-way iron bridge at Fredericktown will be used for traffic. From Fredericktown, this
